JSE articles have DOIs starting with the 2018 volume

Peer Review: All articles are peer reviewed by 2 JSE editors (the Editor-in-Chief and at least one Associate Editor) and at least 2 outside reviewers who are experts in the field and not on the Journal staff or Board.

Aims and Scope (published on page 2 of each JSE issue):

AIMS AND SCOPE: The Journal of Scientific Exploration is an Open Access journal, which publishes material consistent with the Society's mission: to provide a professional forum for critical discussion of topics that are for various reasons ignored or studied inadequately within mainstream science, and to promote improved understanding of social and intellectual factors that limit the scope of scientific inquiry. Topics of interest cover a wide spectrum, ranging from apparent anomalies in well-established disciplines to rogue phenomena that seem to belong to no established discipline, as well as philosophical issues about the connections among disciplines. The Journal publishes research articles, review articles, essays, commentaries, guest editorials, historical perspectives, obituaries, book reviews, and letters or commentaries pertaining to previously published material.

Readership defined: Scholarly, academic, educated audience interested in unresolved issues in science (anomalies), including philosophy of science and history of science.

Content that will be considered: Research Articles, Commentaries, Reviews, Essays, Historical Perspectives, Obituaries, Book Reviews, Letters to the Editor. No length limits.

Authorship criteria: not submitted elsewhere, etc.: All authors must agree to submission, material must be original manuscript not published elsewhere (except author's own website).

Ethics Guidelines:

The JSE follows the best practices of the Committee on Publication Ethics (COPE), the Directory of Open Access Journals (DOAJ), (DOAJ, <https://doaj.org>) and the Open Access Scholarly Publishers Association (OASPA). (OASPA, <https://oaspa.org>)

Copyright and Licensing:

Copyright is shared by the SSE and the authors. All articles are platinum open access (no fees for authors and no fees for readers), and published under the Creative Commons license CC-BY-NC-ND.

Authors may post their final published article on their own or institutional websites.

Research Misconduct:

Publishers and editors take reasonable steps to identify and prevent the publication of papers where research misconduct has occurred, including plagiarism, citation manipulation, and data falsification/fabrication, among others. The JSE discourages all such misconduct. In the event that the JSE publisher or editors are made aware of any allegation of research misconduct relating to a published article in their journal, the publisher or editor shall follow COPE's guidelines (or equivalent) in dealing with allegations, including Correction articles, withdrawal of an article, etc.

Publication Ethics:

1. All co-authors must approve any submissions to the JSE.
2. Any complaints and appeals will be handled by the SSE Publications Committee. General ethical oversight and policy review is the responsibility of the Publications Committee.
3. Authors and editors are asked to state any conflicts of interest / competing during the submission process, and editors are assigned to the submission accordingly.
4. During the submission and review process, authors may be asked to share and/or post their data.
6. Authors may not submit material that is not their own, that has already been published, or where there is not agreement among all the authors. If the JSE finds any of the above, the paper will be withdrawn by the editors.
7. Corrections or retractions are published in the very next issue of the JSE.
8. The JSE is supported by the Society for Scientific Exploration. Funds to run the Journal come from SSE membership fees and SSE donations.
9. There is no paid advertising in the print JSE or online. Ads about scientific conferences and other relevant material are published for free as space is available, subject to the approval of the Editor-in-Chief.

JOURNAL OF SCIENTIFIC EXPLORATION

A Publication of the Society for Scientific Exploration

Instructions to Authors (Revised April 2017)

Please submit all manuscripts at <http://journalofscientificexploration.org/index.php/jse/login> (please note that "www" is NOT used in this address). This website provides directions for author registration and online submission of manuscripts. Full Author Instructions are posted on the Society for Scientific Exploration's website at http://www.scientificexploration.org/documents/instructions_for_authors.pdf for submission of items for publication in the Journal of Scientific Exploration (including "Writing the Empirical Journal Article." Before you submit a paper, please familiarize yourself with the Journal by reading JSE articles. Back issues can be read at <http://www.scientificexploration.org/journal-library>, scroll down to the Open Access issues. Electronic files of text, tables, and figures at resolution of a minimum of 300 dpi (TIF or PDF preferred) will be required for online submission. You will also need to attest to a statement online that the article has not been previously published and is not submitted elsewhere. JSE Managing Editor, EricksonEditorial@gmail.com.

AIMS AND SCOPE: The Journal of Scientific Exploration publishes material consistent with the Society's mission: to provide a professional forum for critical discussion of topics that are for various reasons ignored or studied inadequately within mainstream science, and to promote improved understanding of social and intellectual factors that limit the scope of scientific inquiry. Topics of interest cover a wide spectrum, ranging from apparent anomalies in well-established disciplines to rogue phenomena that seem to belong to no established discipline, as well as philosophical issues about the connections among disciplines. The Journal publishes research articles, review articles, essays, book reviews, and letters or commentaries pertaining to previously published material.

REFEREEING: Manuscripts will be sent to one or more referees at the discretion of the Editor-in-Chief. Reviewers are given the option of providing an anonymous report or a signed report.

In established disciplines, concordance with accepted disciplinary paradigms is the chief guide in evaluating material for scholarly publication. On many of the matters of interest to the Society for Scientific Exploration, however, consensus does not prevail. Therefore the Journal of Scientific Exploration necessarily publishes claimed observations and proffered explanations that will seem more speculative or less plausible than those appearing in some mainstream disciplinary journals. Nevertheless, those observations and explanations must conform to rigorous standards of observational techniques and logical argument.

If publication is deemed warranted but there remain points of disagreement between authors and referee(s), the reviewer(s) may be given the option of having their opinion(s) published along with the article, subject to the Editor-in-Chief's judgment as to length, wording, and the like. The publication of such critical reviews is intended to encourage debate and discussion of controversial issues, since such debate and discussion offer the only path toward eventual resolution and consensus.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR intended for publication should be clearly identified as such. They should be directed strictly to the point at issue, as concisely as possible, and will be published, possibly in edited form, at the discretion of the Editor-in-Chief.

PROOFS AND AUTHOR COPIES: Authors will receipt copyedited, typeset page proofs for review. Print copies of the published Journal will be sent to all named authors.

COPYRIGHT: Authors retain copyright to their writings. However, when an article has been submitted to the Journal of Scientific Exploration for consideration, the Journal holds first serial (periodical) publication rights. Additionally, after acceptance and publication, the Society has the right to post the article on the Internet and to make it available via electronic as well as print subscription. The material must not appear anywhere else (including on an Internet website) until it has been published by the Journal (or rejected for publication). After publication in the Journal, authors may use the material as they wish but should make appropriate reference to the prior publication in the Journal. For example: "Reprinted from [or From] "[title of article]", Journal of Scientific Exploration, vol. [xx], no. [xx], pp. [xx], published by the Society for Scientific Exploration, <http://www.scientificexploration.org>."

DISCLAIMER: While every effort is made by the Publisher, Editors, and Editorial Board to see that no inaccurate or misleading data, opinion, or statement appears in this Journal, they wish to point out that the data and opinions appearing in the articles and announcements herein are the sole responsibility of the contributor concerned. The Publisher, Editors, Editorial Board, and their respective employees, officers, and agents accept no responsibility or liability for the consequences of any such inaccurate or misleading data, opinion, or statement.
